Matured Plants For At Once Delivery

You will want to know how we can ship you matured plants, in good condition to plant as early as July. Through March, April, May and June our plants attain practically their full growth. About June 15th they stop blooming, and the wood matures. Before shipping we defoliate the plants, chill them in a cool house at a temperature of about 40 degrees; pack in cold, damp moss, wrap each bundle of ten seperately, and pack shipment in box, or package, lined with paraffined paper, using the proper amount of Sphagnum moss. We guarantee arrival of plants in first class condition. These plants, planted in the summer and early fall will give a good crop of bloom, beginning about 45 days after planting and continuing until killing frost, and in warmer sections, throughout the winter.

GOOD PACKING

All plants are shipped dormant; defoliated, packed in Sphagnum moss, in steel strapped cardboard boxes. Strong, but light package. Read what one of our customers says about our packing:

Normal, Ill.

Gentlemen:

The roses came to hand yesterday. They came through in splendid condition, and were planted within a few hours after receipt. You have packed and handled them in a most excellent manner, and are to be congratulated on working out a method of handling at this time of the year so satisfactory. This method ought to develop a fine line of work, if it can be done at a profit, for roses are always in demand late in the season. Another year we may be able to use quite a number for retail sales.

Sincerely,
(Name on request)

Many choice varieties are sure to be sold out before season advances far. Send in your order now, with remittance of one-half the amount, and we will reserve roses for you.

ROSE INFORMATION

We try to keep our customers posted as to existing conditions in the rose industry. Last year we told you there was a large crop, and an ample supply of all standard varieties. Owing to short crop this year, some dealers will quote low prices, but will send out old, cut back stock. This stock is worthless; it is woody, brittle, with lots of dead wood. We do not offer this sort of stock to the trade. Investigate your sources before buying.
